THE DEAD PRESIDENT.

As the Court House clock registered half after two this afternoon, every street car in Newark stopped running, nearly every wheel of industry in the city ceased to revolve, while the Central station fire bell in slow and solemn accents proclaimed the fact that all that was mortal of William McKinley, President, was at that hour being consigned to its last resting place in West Lawn cemetery at Canton, Ohio. At the expiration of ten minutes the tolling ceased and the cars started.

The public schools had been closed in the morning, the banks had been closed all day and nearly every place of business and every office in the city was closed at noon to remain closed until four o'clock out of respect to the memory of the late President of the United States. At 1:30 o'clock a suitable memorial program published elsewhere in this paper, was begun at Memorial Auditorium.

It is eminently proper that all citizens should unite as one man in doing honor to the illustrious dead. It is right that creed and party in this hour should be forgotten. It is pleasant to know that the Catholic church conducted services in honor of the President the same as if he had been a believer in the Catholic faith, and it is gratifying to know that the entire press of the country, irrespective of party affiliation has united in deplored the crime at Buffalo and in paying tribute to the personal worth of the departed statesman.

However people may differ as to the policies pursued by the late President and to the doctrines he and his party advocated all have united in mourning his death and in bearing testimony to his clean personal life and his honorable career as a citizen of this great nation, and the fact that he was Chief Magistrate of all the people.

In this hour of national calamity there is no party, but the entire American people—north, south, east and west—unite as one man to pay tribute to the memory of America's third martyred President, William McKinley.

From Romance
... To Reality.

The first time I saw Mrs. Penman it was when she was "sweet sixteen." It was at a party my sister gave to her hoodwink, and Amelia Ann, for that was the dear creature's name, was the divinity of the evening. She wore a blue dress—I shall never forget that dress—which was low cut in the neck, showing a pair of the whitest, roundest and most polished shoulders in the world, and she had long golden ringlets that flowed down her back. She allowed no dance with her almost every set, said "Yes" to everything I proposed, and drank a glass of champagne at supper at my request, though insisting that she had never done such a wicked thing in her life before. When Harry Hanson spoke to her and asked her to eat a philo pena with him, I felt as if I could have knocked him down. Dear creature! I heard her afterward refuse to let him see her home and shall never forget how chafed he looked when she said, with a toss of the head: "No, thank you, I'm engaged."

It was I that escorted her to her father's door, and when she asked me in I didn't know for a minute whether I stood on my head or on my feet. But I declined, pleading the late hour. On my way home I whistled, sang and occasionally danced. Never had I felt so happy. It seemed as if I could almost fly. "Oh, Amelia Ann!" I kept repeating, thinking what a pretty name it was, and then I would break out into "Zip Coon" or perhaps "Dan Tucker" till at last a watchman, tapping me on the shoulder, told me not to "ent them shimes" or he'd take me up for being tipsy. Frightened half out of my wits, I gave him a dollar and had the satisfaction of hearing him growl out in return that he saw I was a gentleman, "which saved my bacon."

I reached home and began to undress, but had to stop, with a stocking half way off, to try to recall how Amelia Ann looked. I shut my eyes and leaned back dreamingly in my chair to call up satisfactorily the image of her plump shoulders and round white arms. It was a bitter cold night, but in spite of it I paused in turning down the sheets and when one foot was already raised to get into bed, for it suddenly struck me that perhaps Amelia Ann was thinking of me at that very moment, yes, sitting abstractedly before her chamber fire, all in virgin white, blushing and ruminating. "Ah, dear Amelia Ann!" I ejaculated, clasping the air and dropping the coverlid, and in that ecstasy I stood till the cold bit me like a pair of nippers in ten thousand places at once, and then I popped into bed and, curling up like a whiplash, repeated, "Lovely Amelia Ann!" till, falling asleep, I dreamed of her all night.

I called three times that week to see her. She played on the piano divinely and sang like a St. Cecilia. Her "Last Rose of Summer" was enchanting, better than Jenny Lind's. I thought I have never forgiven her two boisterous brothers, who used to talk aloud while she sang and who, even when silent, never listened to her. The rude boors!

The second week I knew Amelia Ann spent every evening but one with her, and then she had a headache and could see nobody. How I walked up and down on the other side of the way, looking up at the windows which I knew to be hers and where a light was burning! Once or twice a shadow was reflected on the curtain, and that was almost as good as seeing her. "Dearest Amelia Ann," I said, "if I could only have your headache for you!"

The next Sunday I proposed. Everybody but we two had gone to church, and we remained at home to read "Lalla Rookh." I can still point out the exact spot on the back parlor sofa where she sat when she promised to be mine.

We have been married five years, but somehow or other she doesn't care for dress any more, and, as for poetry, she declares it's trash. Her hair is worn plain and often looks frayed, but she says it's impossible, with all her family, to be fixing it forever. In truth, our three darlings occupy so much of her attention that she has time for nothing. She never opens the piano. She does not know the new pieces, she says, and is tired of the old ones.

She often tells me it is a wonder she looks as well as she does, considering the troubles of housekeeping, especially the perversity of children and the difficulty of keeping servants. Her cares, she declares, are wearing out her life, so that I consider it a miracle she survives at all. It is true I endeavor to lighten the load for her by nursing the baby all the evening and getting up at night to carry it if it cries. I allow her, too, unlimited credit of the milliner's, for she vows she could not be happy without four new bonnets a year.

I used to think before we were married that she lived on air, perhaps like a chameleon, or without eating. But she has an excellent appetite now. If it was not for that, she says, she would long since have sunk under her troubles.

She was very fond of porter till she joined a temperance society, since which time she has found great benefit in drinking the strongest black tea. She has certain dishes which are quite favorites with her, for it was yesterday she said, "Be sure you come home to dinner, love, for we are going to have what I like above all things—beefsteak smothered in onions."

And thus I fell in love with a blue dress and white shoulders that beefsteak and onions might come of it.

THE STAGE AS AN INCUBATOR
OF LAUGHS

By MAY IRWIN

WHAT class or style of drama do the people want? Is the theater a place for instruction and learning, or is it one for amusement only? I am inclined to believe that the theater is purely a place of amusement. In these modern times of trouble and care, which indiscriminately leave their marks on all, relief and recreation are blessings.

I THINK THE PUBLIC GOES TO THE THEATER TO BE AMUSED.

Pleasure means joy and harmony, and we are all attracted by harmony, just as we are not attracted by discord. Of the millions of people who seek enjoyment and amusement the greater portion select the theater as the means to that end. The average man after a day's work and serious thought does not care to court further serious thought or tears, but wants something to distract the mind, to divert the currents of the brain into more pleasant and enticing channels.

HE WANTS TO BE AMUSED. He wants to laugh, to be jolly.

Of all the drama I think comedy does the most good. Time brings about many changes, and I am sure that it has not disregarded the theater in this respect. Years and years ago it was a place for serious thought, for study and for teaching. But as evolution goes hand in hand with time, its marks were also left upon the theater and on the play. The demand for the serious drama became less because of the fact that the lessons once learned from Thespis were being gained through other means, and with its decline came the clamor and rush for art of a lighter vein. The amusement, the enjoyment, the pleasure, which before had been gained elsewhere and through other means, gradually began to make themselves manifest over the footlights. It proved a means which took with the popular mind and which has grown in force and importance to this day and will continue doing so until time and evolution on their rounds again draw near and again leave their marks upon the play and the playhouse.

AT THE PRESENT WRITING THE DEMAND IS FOR COMEDY.

NONE BUT HONEST MEN NEED APPLY

By WILLIAM H. TAFT, Civil Governor of the Philippines

UPON Americans who accept office in the Philippines under the civil government is imposed the responsibility of reaching the highest American standard of official duty. WHENEVER AN AMERICAN FAILS, WHENEVER HE ALLOWS HIMSELF TO USE HIS OFFICIAL POSITION FOR PRIVATE ENDS, EVEN THOUGH IT DOES NOT INVOLVE ACTUAL DEFALCATION OR THE STEALING OF PUBLIC PROPERTY OR MONEY, HE IS RECREANT TO HIS TRUST IN A FAR HIGHER DEGREE THAN HE WOULD BE WERE HE TO COMMIT THE SAME OFFENSE IN A SIMILAR OFFICE AT HOME.

Here he is the representative of the great republic, among a people untaught in the methods of free and honest government, and in so far as he fails in his duty he vindicates the objection of those who have forcibly resisted our taking control of these islands.

All Europe Is Anti-American

By M. PAUL LEROY BEAULIEU, Great French Economist

AMERICANS have no conception of the feeling which exists against them in Europe. Even you Americans who travel do not get at the real feelings of the people who live on this side of the water. You meet only those whose business it is to entertain you, to sell goods to you, to extract money from you, to be polite to you. It is not from them you learn the truth. They conceal their thoughts. But men like myself, who travel about on the continent as continentals, know the state of the public mind.

WE KNOW THAT EVERY IMPORTANT GOVERNMENT ON THE CONTINENT IS ALREADY UNDER THE PRESSURE OF MANUFACTURERS AND TRADESMEN AND PRODUCERS WHO WANT A SHARP, DRASITIC POLICY OF RETALIATION UPON AMERICA INSTITUTED AT ONCE.

This pressure will make itself felt in time—that is inevitable. With the men who foment it is a matter of dollars and cents. They are from the most influential classes, the capitalists, the employers, and they will have their way. Governments will be compelled to respect their wishes in order to maintain themselves.

Hawaiian Islands Come High,
But Are Worth the Price

By W. F. MACLENNAN, Of the U. S. Treasury Department

ROM what I saw, the Hawaiian Islands will cost the United States a vast sum of money before they are completely Americanized. American institutions, while making rapid inroads, are not yet as thoroughly established as they might be, but of course it requires time for such developments, and altogether the progress made in this direction is satisfactory. While Hawaii will cost this government a great amount of money, there is everything to lead to the belief that we will receive in return equal benefit in one form or another as an inevitable result.

The sugar raising industry in the islands is pursued with remarkable profit. It is estimated that some of the plantations there yield an annual gain of 80 per cent, while very few pay their owners less than 20 per cent. This is an enormous rate of profit—so great, in fact, that almost every bit of available land is utilized in sugar raising. The result is that very little territory is left for the production of other necessities.

SHORTCOMINGS OF THE ACTOR

Be thoroughly artistic on the stage we should try to be perfectly natural off the stage. Affectations grow upon one, if not checked in time, until they become mannerisms of the most marked kind and are frequently very offensive. In an actor or actress, therefore, they should be studiously avoided, and ABSOLUTE TRUTH SHOULD BE CULTIVATED AT ALL TIMES.

By JULIA ARTHUR

One success cannot make an artist. It is merely a test. It is the first step which appears to us the most difficult. We think if we could but make one success the rest would follow. We crave for one great opportunity. Well, we get it, and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred what is the result?

We are so elated that WE LOSE SIGHT OF THE SECOND LITTLE STEP, but it is there, and the cool headed man who sits in front has his eye on it as well as on us. He is watching to see how we take that step, how we will stand the test. And what are we doing?

ALAS, WE ARE TOO FREQUENTLY LISTENING TO THE FLAT-TERY OF KIND BUT THOUGHTLESS FRIENDS, AND, LIKE A MERRY GO ROUND, WE ENJOY IT UNTIL IT MAKES US DIZZY.

We listen, we forget the cool headed gentleman, and if we think of that second little step at all it is to imagine that we have passed far beyond it.

The gentleman in front doesn't care a snap what we think or feel. He is there to criticise the work we do.

He sees no improvement and says so. The old and the new parts are too similar, and he says so.

We read it; we are surprised; we are annoyed, very much annoyed. There is a pale bluish light in the room, an odor of sulphur, and if we allow our friends to console us and convince us that the cool headed gentleman is a brute and that "he doesn't know what he is talking about" we go on in the dizzy height until WE GET A FALL FROM WHICH WE SELDOM IF EVER RECOVER.

The White Lies of Society

By Dr. E. BENJAMIN ANDREWS

Chancellor of The University Of Nebraska

EXCEPTION is permissible when the motive is good, but when practiced for the sake of social distinction or money it is not to be endured.

A PREACHER WHO PREACHES FOR SALARY ALONE IS TOO MEAN TO LIVE. HE SHOULD BE HUNG, QUARTERED AND BURNED AND HIS BIOGRAPHY WRITTEN BY HIS WORST ENEMY.

Conciliation is necessary for any great number of people to agree to hymns, creed or liturgy. I would throw out many of the hymns if I had anything to do with it. Other people would throw out others, and soon we would have all new hymns which would be as unsatisfactory as the old. Do not leave a church because you do not agree with all the details of its creed.

Society women often send down word that they are not at home when a caller rings, while they are up stairs trying to take a nap. This is a conventional misstatement not meant to deceive any one, and it rarely does. IT IS A LIE THAT IS NOT A LIE AND SEEMS TO HAVE LITTLE HARM IN IT.

Another of the conventional lies that we hate is the complimentary ending to letters. We say "Yours, truly," when we mean nothing of the sort. Admiral Schley would probably sign his letters to Sampson "Most respectfully, your obedient servant," when he feels that he is nothing of the sort, and Sampson knows it too.

ABOUT ALL WE MEAN BY THESE CONVENTIONAL ENDINGS IS THE SAME AS WE MEAN WHEN WE SAY "AMEN!" WHICH INDICATES THAT WE ARE THROUGH.

What I Have Accomplished

OTS of people ask me what I have accomplished in my crusades. In Kansas there were 18 dives, and there is not one there now. FIVE MONTHS AGO, WHEN I SMASHED THE FIRST SALOON IN THAT PLACE, THERE WERE 40 IN ALL. THERE IS NOT ONE NOW. You who have no faith in the hatchet, bring forth something better. The things I have destroyed, such as mirrors, bottles, glasses and so on, don't cost much. I have been whipped in the public highway by a woman hired to do it, I have been thrown into jail and knocked down in the gutter, but I am still alive and in good state of preservation. But I tell you, being in jail is nothing to a broken heart. Ten thousand houses would hardly hold the broken hearts in this world because of liquor. The human being begins to degenerate when he begins to drink.

Mothers, when your boys grow up to be 21 years old, DON'T LET THEM GO TO THE SALOON AND VOTE YOU OUT OF YOUR RIGHTS. Remember, we women are in the majority, so far as numbers are concerned. It is time for us to take a hand in the government instead of keeping a back seat.

I AM PROUD OF MY SEX, BUT ALSO MORTIFIED.

AMUSEMENTS.

"The Evil Eye," a gorgeous trick spectacle, was magnificently presented last night at the Auditorium before a large audience that thoroughly appreciated the production. The company will conclude its engagement in Newark tonight.

The massive scenic effects of "The Evil Eye" are built upon a scale seldom equalled and there are no less than six stars in the large company, among the principals being Charles A. Loder, Mayme Mayo, the Brothers Kennard and Emilie Brenner. Miss Brenner, whose does not appear on the house programs, through mistake, takes the part of Bertrand, a Hollander. She has a magnificent voice.

The Victoria troupe of Royal English singers and dancers and the marvelous electric ballet in themselves furnish an evening's entertainment.

Miss Bertha Else during the appearance of the company at Philadelphia, became known through the press as "the lady with the angel face" and she was appropriately named.

Miss Mayo is charming as a singer, dancer and her beauty is striking.

There will undoubtedly be a large audience tonight. "The Evil Eye" deserves it.

Uncle Tom Tomorrow.

We are to witness a $30,000 revival of that famous old historical play Uncle Tom's Cabin, as produced by L. W. Martin's mammoth company at the Auditorium tomorrow night, Sept. 20. It is doubtful, if in earlier days, when Uncle Tom's Cabin occupied the enviable position of the most popular play of the day, and when it was then novelty of the dramatic stage, if it ever received the attention so liberally bestowed upon it as in Mr. Martin's revival. It surely has never had the benefit of the scenic environment with which he has sumptuously provided it.

The stage settings and pictures are noteworthy and veritable triumphs of the scenic artist's skill, while the company is all that talent and careful direction can produce.

Hamlet Next Monday.

"Hamlet," the play to be produced by Mr. Robert B. Mantell, on his visit to Newark, under the management of M. W. Hanley this coming week, certainly an "old timer" having been often repeated but unlike many of the modern dramas is still vigorous and serves well to demonstrate the resourceful talents of that great tragedian Robert B. Mantell.

To dilate upon the work of Mr. Mantell would only be a repetition of what the American public is fully aware and the announcement of his appearance at the Auditorium next Monday will be heralded with pleasure by the theatregoers in general.

ELKS—Judge E. M. B. Brister left at noon for Marietta to attend the State convention of Elks. A lodge of sorrow will be held tonight in memory of the late President.

The Finger Posts Marking the Many By-Paths of Present Day Troubles All Seem to Point the Same Way. Lack of Nerve Force.

Day by day the columns of this paper bring new evidence from Newark people of the great work being done by Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills. Why they accomplish so much is easily explained. They are prepared with an eye single to restoring Nerve Force. They accomplish this object which no other medicine in the world has ever been able to do—that's why hundreds of Newark people offer their testimony.

Mr. George Rease of No. 77 Chestnut street, Newark, Ohio, says: "I have used Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Bricker's City Drug Store in my family and found them a splendid medicine for dizziness and general nervousness and can faithfully recommend them to any similarly affected."

LOST CHILD.

"Where did you find the kid, Dougherty?"

"I didn't. It found me. I guess its mamma was a-shoppin', and it must have walked out of a store. Anyhow never caught sight of it until it trotted out into the street and took hold of my hand. I waited round with it a long time, hopin' its mamma would come for it, and then I brought it here."

"Blame me, if it ain't the dandiest youngster I ever clapped eyes on," put in the sergeant as the absurd little hand patted the silver star on the sergeant's coat.

"Seems to be well togged out too. Ain't no ordinary, everyday kid, judgin' by its clothes."

The object of this conversation now held up its short little arms and wrinkled up its face. The tiny lips began to quiver as no move was made to take it.

"Blamed if I dare hold you!" said the sergeant. "I'd break you somewhere or let you drop, and then where'd you be?"

Dougherty took the bundle of white stuff and carried it to the window, where the sapphire eyes looked out and blinked merrily at the passersby. The sergeant sniffed and blew his nose vigorously. He had suddenly remembered that many years ago Dougherty had lost his three children in some frightful accident.

The plump fingers ran along the window glass, and the white hooded head nodded at the stream of people that hurried by. But no one noticed, and Dougherty was about to plan some new amusement when a well dressed man caught sight of the baby's face and then, nervous and excited, ran into the station house.

"How came this child here?" he demanded, almost fiercely, as he took the little creature into his arms and pressed kisses on the dimpled fists. "I am the child's father. Tell me quickly how came she here."

"No. 746 found it in the middle of the street," answered the sergeant, referring to the register. "It was at the corner of S and M, in the busiest part of the shopping district."

"My God! It's a wonder she wasn't crushed to death by the cars or trampled under horses' hoofs."

There was a hurried opening of the station house door, the rustle of silk skirts, and a white faced, trembling woman appeared. At sight of the man and child she stood as if too bewildered and paralyzed to speak. Then the bundle of lace and the white hood and the small shoes began to wiggle and squirm, and in another moment the baby was running toward its mother, who now was softly weeping. She clasped the child in her arms, and the sergeant noticed that Dougherty drew his rough sleeve over his eyes and then hurriedly left the room.

It seemed strange, thought the sergeant, that the mother and father of the child appeared so distant. He was still more bewildered when the child's father lifted his hat and said, "Shall I take Muriel to the carriage?" and the mother answered, half audibly, "If you will be so kind."

Then they thanked the sergeant for his kindness and passed out into the sunshine.

At the carriage door the man assisted his wife into the vehicle and then handed the baby to her. She nodded her head in silent thanks. He again lifted his hat and was soon lost in the crowd of passersby.

That night a woman with a heavy, sorrowful heart knelt by one side of her baby's cradle and wept bitterly.

For the first time in several weeks she had been face to face with the man whom she had loved and married, the man whose child she had cared for so tenderly with true motherly affection and devotion.

Had she but taken the opportunity to bid him return, had she but begged him to end the wretchedness of the past month, had her lips but obeyed the commands of her heart, could she once have murdered her pride and extended her hand to him, how different might their future be!

Such thoughts flew through her mind with agonizing, tormenting quickness. There was no world outside her own heavy heart. Her head fell among the down coverlets of the cradle, and she sobbed aloud.

She did not hear the soft step behind her. She did not know that some one had entered the room until an arm was about her and a reassuring voice was saying:

"Claire! Wife! I have returned to beg forgiveness. Please be friends again. I cannot exist without you. Please! Please!"

"It was such a silly quarrel, wasn't it, dear?" she said, struggling closer to him and raising her wet eyes to his. "And yet we were so stubborn. I'm sure we'll never quarrel again, and even if we do you won't go away, will you? And we won't wait a whole month to make up, will we?"

The tiny creature in the cradle moved. The small arms reached out and clutched at the silken hangings of the canopy. Two sapphire eyes opened and looked at the man and woman to whom the happiness of renewed love had come.

PUNCH IN ENGLAND.

The drinking habits of England have greatly changed for the better within the past fifty years, but one of the most remarkable changes is the disappearance of punch as a sportsman's beverage. No hunt meal was considered complete without its steaming bowl of this "nectar of the gods," as one old author called it. And there were not wanting learned men who defended its enjoyment. — London Sporting and Dramatic News.

U. K. Guthrey, Auditor of Marion County.

"I feel that it would be a benefit for those with defective eyes to know the experience I have had with mine. For many years I have been nearly blind in one eye and the other was defective. Physicians decided they could do nothing for me and advised me to go to a very prominent oculist in Cleveland. After having examined my case he informed me that one eye was beyond all hope. He improved the sight of the other eye slightly with a glass, but the results were on the whole very unsatisfactory. Having consulted what was supposed to be the best talent in this country, I was forced to believe that I would have to live the balance of my life in comparative blindness, a thought quite horrifying to me. One day I happened into the office of our probate judge, who was having a pair of glasses fitted by Dr. J. N. Hoyt. The gratification and delight expressed by the Judge when the Doctor had completed the examination gave me a new ray of hope and I requested him to examine mine. In ten minutes he brought out the vision in both my eyes so that I could read the finest print at the proper distance with ease. I can see as clearly with the eye pronounced beyond all hope as though it had never been defective. How can I but feel grateful to Dr. Hoyt? I would say that he is one of those fortunate gentlemen who have made a correct selection of a profession, as he certainly is a born artist in his line. He is also a graduate of the Chicago Ophthalmic College and Hospital—a man of very extensive practice and an honorable gentleman.

Auditor of Marion County.

LITTLE CHILD'S DEATH.

Joseph Francis, the one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vierling of East Locust street, died Wednesday night at 9 o'clock from heart trouble. The little fellow was well when put to bed early in the evening, but later, when the mother went to the bedside of her sleeping child she found it dead.

The funeral will be held from the home of the parents Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. L. S. Boyce officiating. Interment will be in Cedar Hill cemetery.

FISHERMEN

Attack Employers While in Session, On Strike.

London, Sept. 19.—An alarming situation exists at Grimsby, where a mob of locked out fishermen attacked, wrecked and set fire to the new offices of the Owners' Federation, where the owners of the fishing fleet were holding a meeting. The owners escaped and the fire was extinguished, but the police were powerless to quell the riot. A strike has been in progress among the fishermen at Grimsby for several months. Four hundred steam fishing nets are idle and thousands of fishermen and their families have been suffering great hardships. Food had to be sent to them by sympathizing companies.

Seth Low For Mayor.

New York, Sept. 19.—The committee of 18 of the anti-Tammany organizations, which has been holding sessions for several days considering candidates for mayor to be submitted to the general conference of the organization, took a final vote, which stood: Seth Low, 17; George L. Rives, 1. The general conference then met and selected Seth Low as its candidate for mayor. In its regular course this nomination will now go to the nominating conventions of the various anti-Tammany bodies.

Murdered His Wife.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 19.—Patsy Nathan of Henderson, Ky., murdered his wife in this city by shooting her. Some time ago the woman came here with two of her children because of domestic differences, while two others remained with their father. The children finally decided to come here and join their mother, and this angered Nathan so that, when he arrived from Henderson and visited his wife, he shot her to death. He then surrendered to the police.

Anarchist Editor Seized.

Paris, Sept. 19.—Manager Grandine of the anarchist journal Liberateur has been arrested for the publication of articles tending to excite feeling against the czar. It is probable that Laurence Taft, who signed one of the articles, will also be arrested and charged with inciting to murder. The Echo de Paris says that the czar's uncle, Grand Duke Alexis, was seen walking in Paris.

Cleveland Impressed.

Princeton, N. J., Sept. 19.—Ex-President Grover Cleveland, speaking of the McKinley obsequies at Washington, said: "I was very much impressed with the solemnity of the occasion and the deep-seated feeling of all the people who were present and their manifest sincere grief." Mr. Cleveland also said that he found it impossible to attend the public memorial service in Philadelphia.

ALL WRONG.

The Mistake is Made by Many Newark Citizens.

Don't mistake the cause of backache. To be cured you must know the cause.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure. Backache is kidney ache. You must cure the kidneys.

A Newark resident tells you how this can be done.

Mrs. J. T. Purcell, 345 Schuyler street says: "My back ached all the time. As a rule it was very severe but it hurt me much more when I overexerted myself or occupied certain positions in which my back was strained considerably, or when I was sitting sewing. I obtained little benefit from the treatment which I took, so little in fact, that I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills, when Crayton Bros. first advertised them in Newark. They did for me what others failed to do, for they took away from my back that distressing pain and ache. I know of friends of mine who were as much the gainers through their use as I."

CZAR IN FRANCE.

Received by the President, Then Imprisoned in a Cage.

Compte, Sept. 19.—The czar's first day on French soil passed without untoward incident, except the delay of a couple of hours in docking the Standard, the Russian imperial yacht at Dunkirk. The presidential train conveying M. Loubet and the czar and czarina, with their suites, arrived at the castle at Compiegne in the evening. The utmost vigilance was exercised along the railroad track. The train dashed through a double row of bayonets and the drawn sabres as the infantry was reinforced by regiments of dragoons and hussars. In some cases double lines of troops were on each side of the track, the first line being foot soldiers and the second line cavalry. Any outrage along the track was utterly impossible, as no one was allowed to approach it.

PARIS CELEBRATED.

Paris, Sept. 19.—The arrival of Emperor Nicholas in France was celebrated in Paris by a general illumination of the city. The Elysee palace, all public buildings, all theaters, many churches and numerous business buildings and private residence were ablaze with rows of flaring gas jets. National and other ornamental devices were to be seen everywhere. French and Russian flags were displayed along the principal streets, the boulevards presenting a gorgeous spectacle of light and color, in the midst of which was a curiously impressive sight to behold many American flags draped with crepe.

RUSSIAN VIEW OF ROOSEVELT.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 19.—The Rossiya says: "President Roosevelt is a genuine fanatic for imperialism and pan-Americanism. He will retouch all President McKinley's accomplishments in foreign policy. With President Roosevelt will begin an era of pan-Americanism." After quoting an inaccurate version of President Roosevelt's last speech, the Rossiya declares the Germans will be taught that the Monroe doctrine is no joke, and that the United States is supreme throughout America.

VALET JONES COURTS DEATH.

New York, Sept. 19.—Charles J. Jones, the valet-secretary of William Marsh Rice, whose Jones said he had killed by administering chloroform, made two attempts to commit suicide.

Jones first tried to cut himself in the throat with the jagged neck of the bottle which he had shattered for the purpose. Later he fastened his head between the uprights of his iron bedstead and tried to throw his body off the bed and thus break his neck. Both these attempts were frustrated by Norfolk, Va., Sept. 19.—A terrific northeaster, the forerunner of the great gulf storm, prevails along the Carolina and Virginia coasts. The rainfall is terrific. The North Atlantic squadron is at anchor in the Roads.

Further use entirely cured her. This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50¢ and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Hall's drug store.

the state, the national guard of Ohio 5,000 strong, details of regulars from all branches of the service, fraternal and civic organizations and representatives of commercial bodies from all over the country, the governors of several states with their staffs, the house and senate of the United States and cabinet and president of the United States followed the remains to Westlawn cemetery, where they were placed in a receiving vault awaiting the time when they will be laid in the grave beside the two dead children who were buried years ago.

There will be a short service at the receiving vault, consisting of prayer and a scriptural reading by D. C. E. Manchester and Bishop J. W. Jones of Minneapolis. A selection will be sung at the vault by a quartet from Pittsburgh Conventry No. 1, Knights Templar.

The population of Canton is only 31,000, and it is estimated that 100,000 visitors are here. The railway facilities and accommodations are entirely inadequate to care for the multitude that are here, although the local committee did everything in its power to provide food and shelter. Thousands walked the streets Wednesday night unable to find lodgings. Many of the officials from Washington were obliged to sleep in their cars when they came in.

President Roosevelt, his naval aide, Captain Covales, Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Hill are at the spacious residence of Mrs. George D. Harter on Market street. A company of the Ohio militia guards the house.

The cabinet officers and high army and navy officials are quartered in private houses.

Floral Offerings.

The number and beauty of the floral tributes to the illustrious dead surpass belief. Flowers literally came by the ton. The hothouses of the country seemed to have been emptied to supply them.

Mrs. McKinley stood the night and morning bravely, and in the opinion of her physician would be able to go through her trying part of the final ceremonies.

President Roosevelt and the official party will start back to Washington at 7 o'clock tonight.

Secretary Cortelyou will return to Washington with the president tonight to gather up the late president's personal effects, and will later return to Canton to aid Mrs. McKinley in straightening out his private affairs.

All through Wednesday afternoon and evening the crowd passed the catologue, approximately at the rate of 100 every minute, making in the five hours in which the body a total of 30,000 people, practically a full equal to the actual population of Canton. When the doors were closed at 6 o'clock the line, four abreast, stretched fully one mile from the courthouse, and people were still coming from the side streets to take their places in line.

At 6 o'clock the doors were closed to the public and preparations made for removing the body to the McKinley residence on North Market street, seven squares from the courthouse, Canton commandery of the Grand Army acted as escort, and there was no following. Arrived at the house, the escort formed in line in the street, presenting arms, while the coffin borne up by the body bearers, was taken into the house. It was placed in the front part, where it remained until it was removed to the church this afternoon.

Embalmers' Contention.

Canton, O., Sept. 19—Among those at the courthouse while the body of the late president lay in state was the Buffalo undertaker who embalmed the body, and came on here to transfer his duties to the local funeral director.

He received a dispatch from his business associate at Baltimore saying that some comment was being made concerning the haste with which the casket was closed, owing to the condition of the embalming. He stated, however, that the condition of the remains after the autopsy made it impossible to properly perform the usual offices of embalming, and he asked in justice to himself and his associates that this fact be stated on his authority.

Day at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Sept. 19.—President McKinley's funeral day found business in Philadelphia as near a complete suspension as it can possibly be. All the great department stores, industrial establishments, small business places and all the exchanges are closed for the day, and in fact every sort of industry was on the exception of the telephones, remained still while the last scene of the national tragedy is being enacted in the Ohio town. All the streetcars ceased moving for five minutes, from 10:30 to 11:35 p. m.

Run Out of Town.

Marshall, O., Sept. 19.—John Peterson, a foreigner, who says he is a Norwegian, was run out of Marshall on account of utterances against the late President McKinley. Two men living on Coos river are reported to have expressed satisfaction at President McKinley's assassination. A party has been formed to visit them.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Fall Weeds.

We are to opt to neglect the weeds in the fall, partly because we think the crops are so nearly matured that they will not be much injured by them and partly because it is not convenient to work among nearly full grown plants, says American Cultivator. Then too, the frequent showers and cool nights allow many plants to revive and take root again and go on to the perfecting of seed. This is all wrong. It is seedling for another year's crop of weeds, and if these fall weeds are destroyed each year and those along the edges of the field cut down as often as they are tall enough, soon the work of weeding would be greatly reduced. There are some crops that when well grown so cover the ground as to prevent weeds from getting much start, as do turnips and cabbages, but even in them a few weeds are ragweed, pigweed, roman wormwood and heart-weed will show above the plants. Pull them up and carry them off the field. Take off purslane and carry it away. Some of these grow thousands of seeds on each plant. A good pile of them will heat and rot so as to destroy the vitality of most of the seeds.

Some of our patrons may think the Gas Company are trying to take advantage of the consumers of Gas by advancing the price, but we assure you that such is not the case. The Company would prefer if every consumer would burn gas by meter, then all would be interested in saving this ideal fuel, but as long as there is nothing to compel the consumer to be saving, the waste will continue to go on, therefore you will notice we have made the prices on open grates higher than stoves or asbestos back walls, as we do not care to furnish gas for open grates. We hope the consumers will realize the position the Gas Company is in and the increased enormous expense each year to furnish this fuel.

All consumers having cook stoves only or open grates will do the Gas Company a great favor if they will call at the office and sign new contracts at once as the old contracts expire Oct. 1

BIRTHDAY

Of Mr. John Farmer of Outville—73d Anniversary—Newark Friends Present.

Outville, O., Sept. 19.—A very pleasant day was spent at Mr. and John Farmer's on Monday, Sept. 16. It was the 73d anniversary of the birth of Mr. Farmer, and a few of his friends planned a surprise on him. On Monday morning Mrs. Farmer succeeded in getting Mr. Farmer to go over to Mr. Davis' to see a sick cow, and thinking that he would be gone an hour or two, had commenced to prepare for the expected guests, and was engaged in killing a number of chickens when her husband returned home and asked her what she was killing the chickens for, knowing that she was very timid about doing such work. She finally told him what was up, but it didn't spoil his pleasure to think that he had been remembered, and he was ready to extend a cordial greeting to each one when he arrived. All took well filled baskets with them and he was also the recipient of a number of very fine presents, which caused him to dance around like a young lad. A sumptuous dinner was served, after which an enjoyable social time was had. First there was a jig dance by Mr. Farmer, after which came a fat woman's race, which was won by Mrs. Ellen Fulton. The contest was between Mrs. Fulton and Mrs. O. W. Southard. The lean woman's race between Mrs. Julia Connell and Mrs. Neddie Forry was won by Mrs. Connell.

Mr. Farmer was 73 years old on the 15th of September. He has never been sick a week, but it altogether, during his life, and never spent five dollars for medicine. He spent last winter with his daughter, Mrs. Carrie Aufer, in Alabama. He puts his crops in himself, and is always ready for his three meals a day. He is always happy and cheerful and is everybody's friend. His sister, Mrs. John Fleming and himself, are all that are left of a large family. His sister is 73 years old, and is in the enjoyment of good health. Mr. Farmer is the father of four children, all of whom are married. Among those present from Newark were the Connell and Binder families. It was a day long to be remembered by Mr. Farmer, and those who were present all united in wishing that they might live to assist him in celebrating many more of his birthday anniversaries.
